

The gift of heart

Once in a jungle, there were two friends - monkey & crocodile. The monkey lived on a mango tree & the crocodile lived in water.

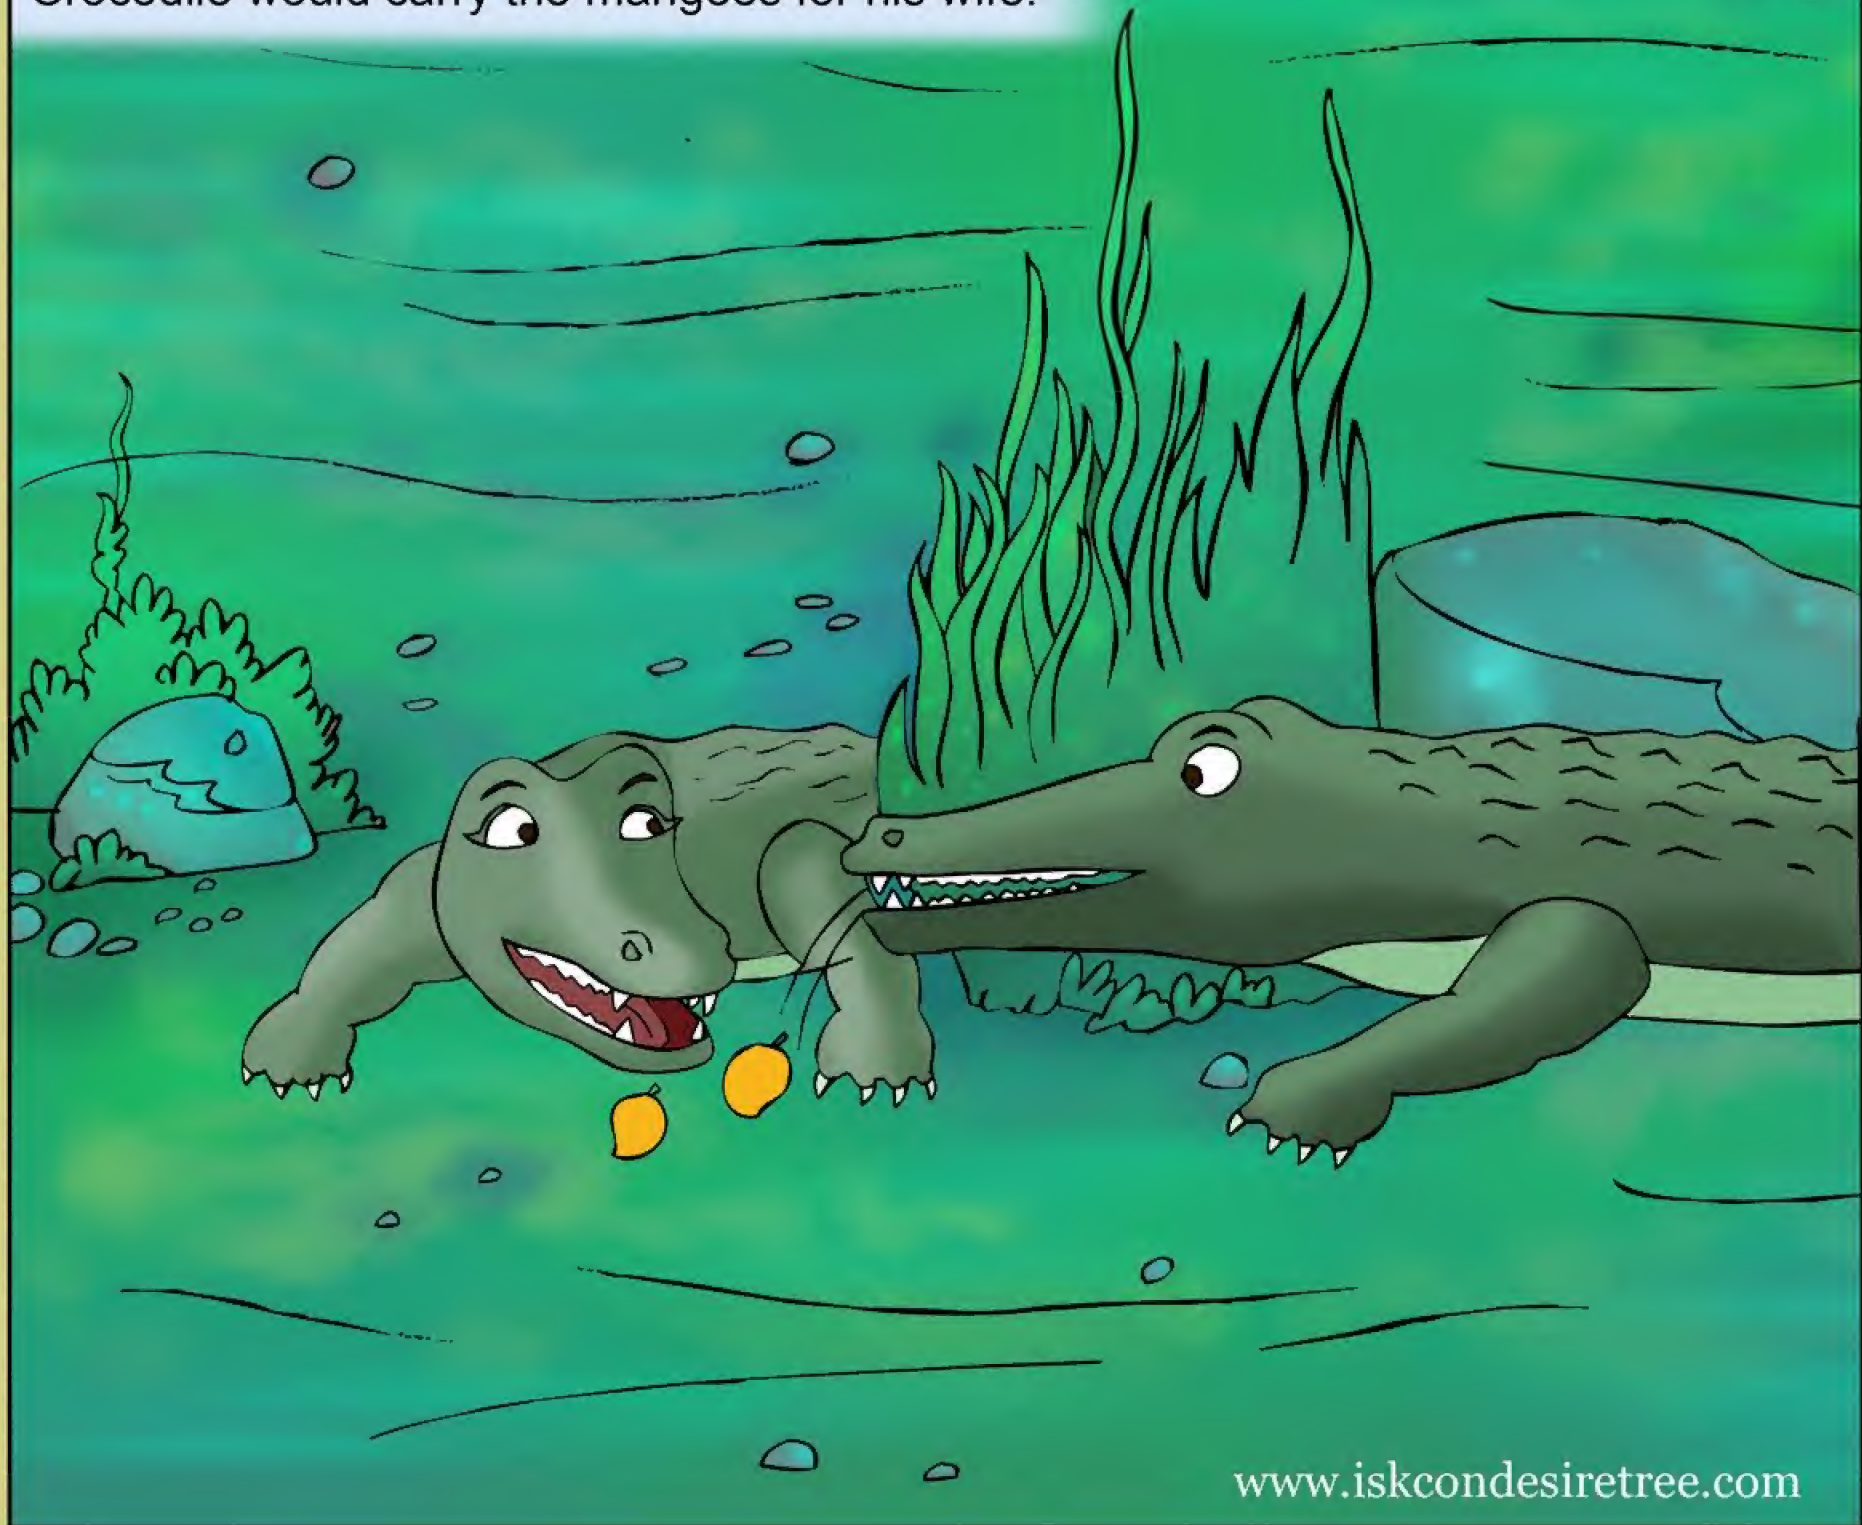

During the summer season, the monkey would throw down delicious mangoes to his crocodile friend.

Crocodile would carry the mangoes for his wife.

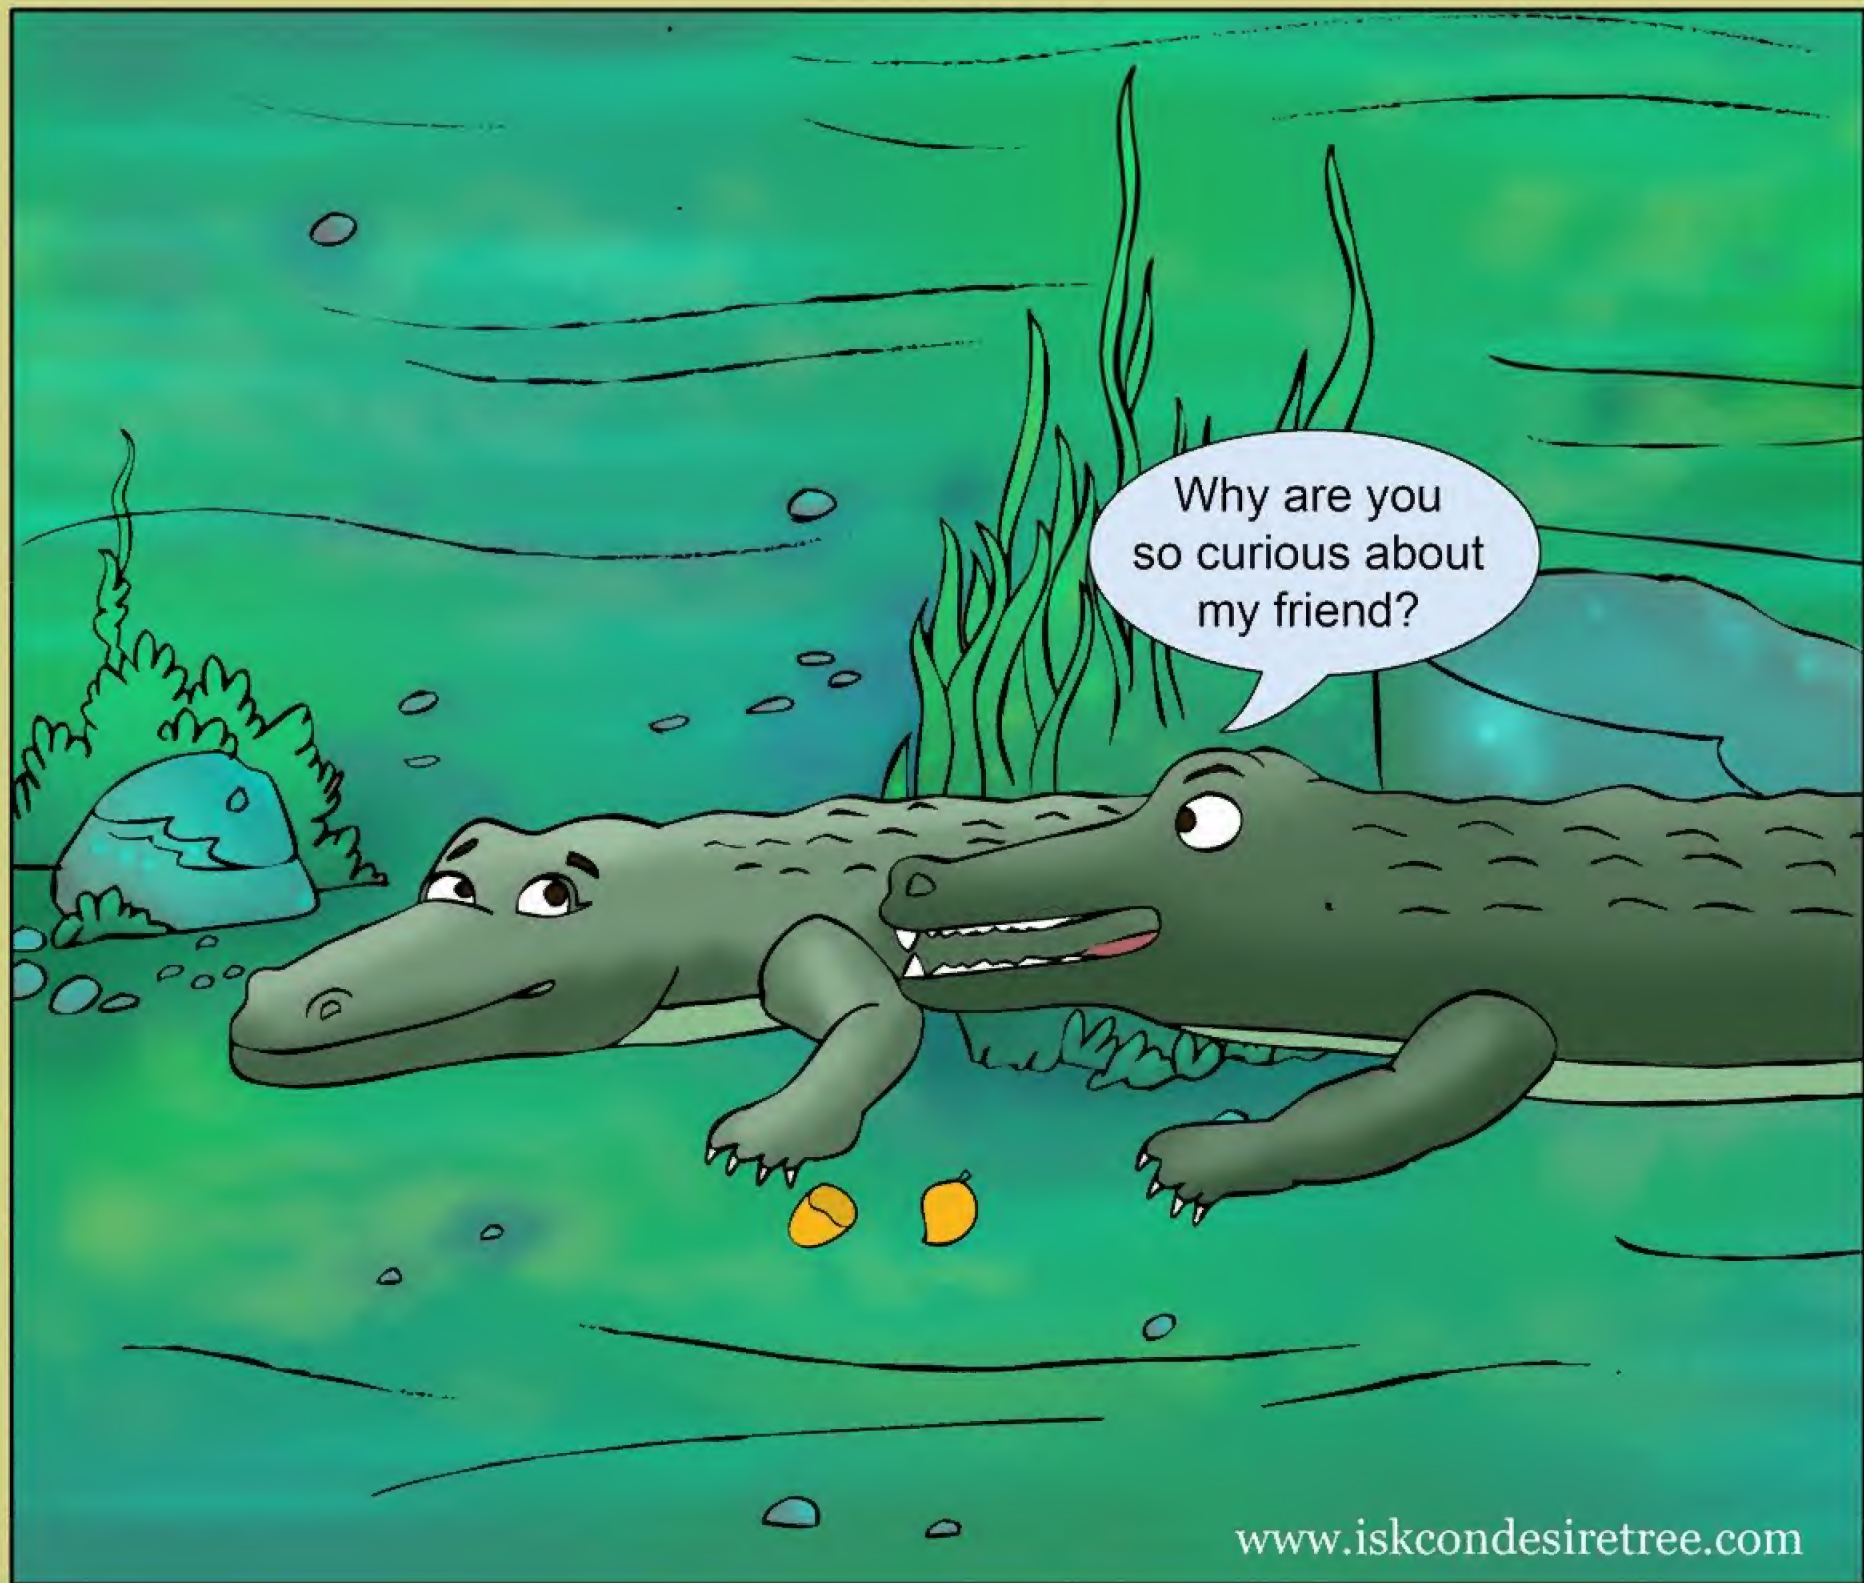

Why don't you
bring your friend this evening, I have never seen him.

Well to tell you
the truth, I want to eat
his heart, He eats all this sweet mangoes on the tree.
So his heart must
be so delicious!

The crocodile was taken aback..

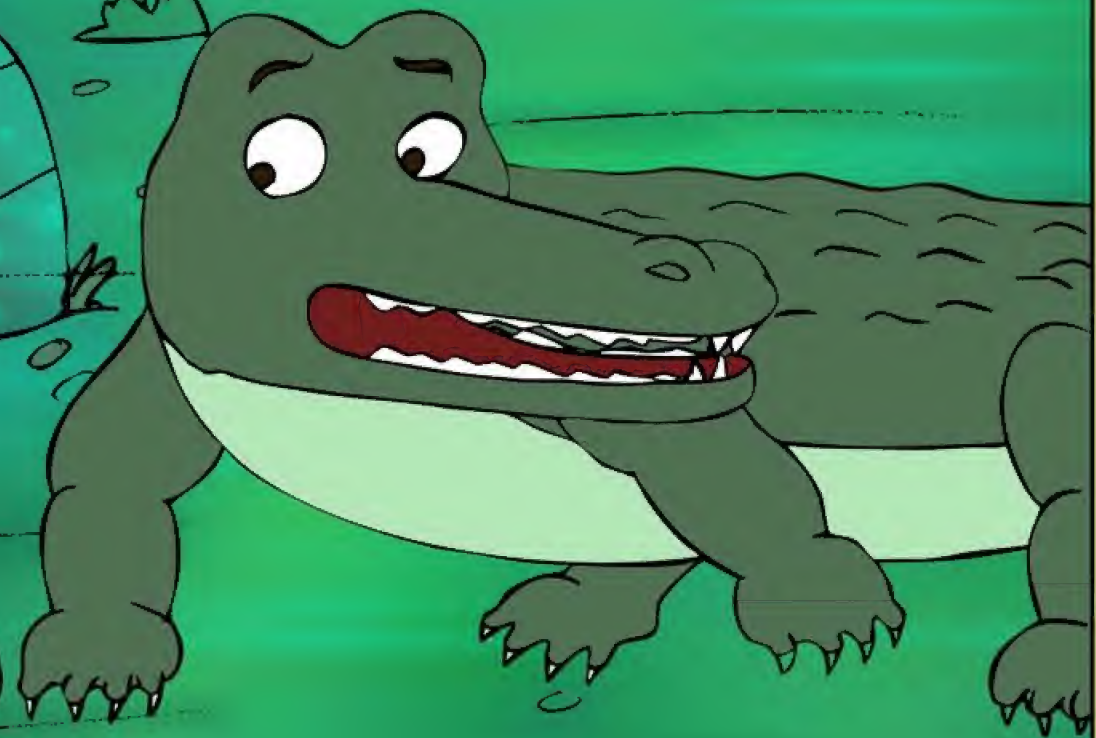

Impossible
I can't bring my dear friend
home & kill him.

The crocodile's wife cried...

Ok! Anything
to please you.

At last crocodile agree to do this unpleasant job.

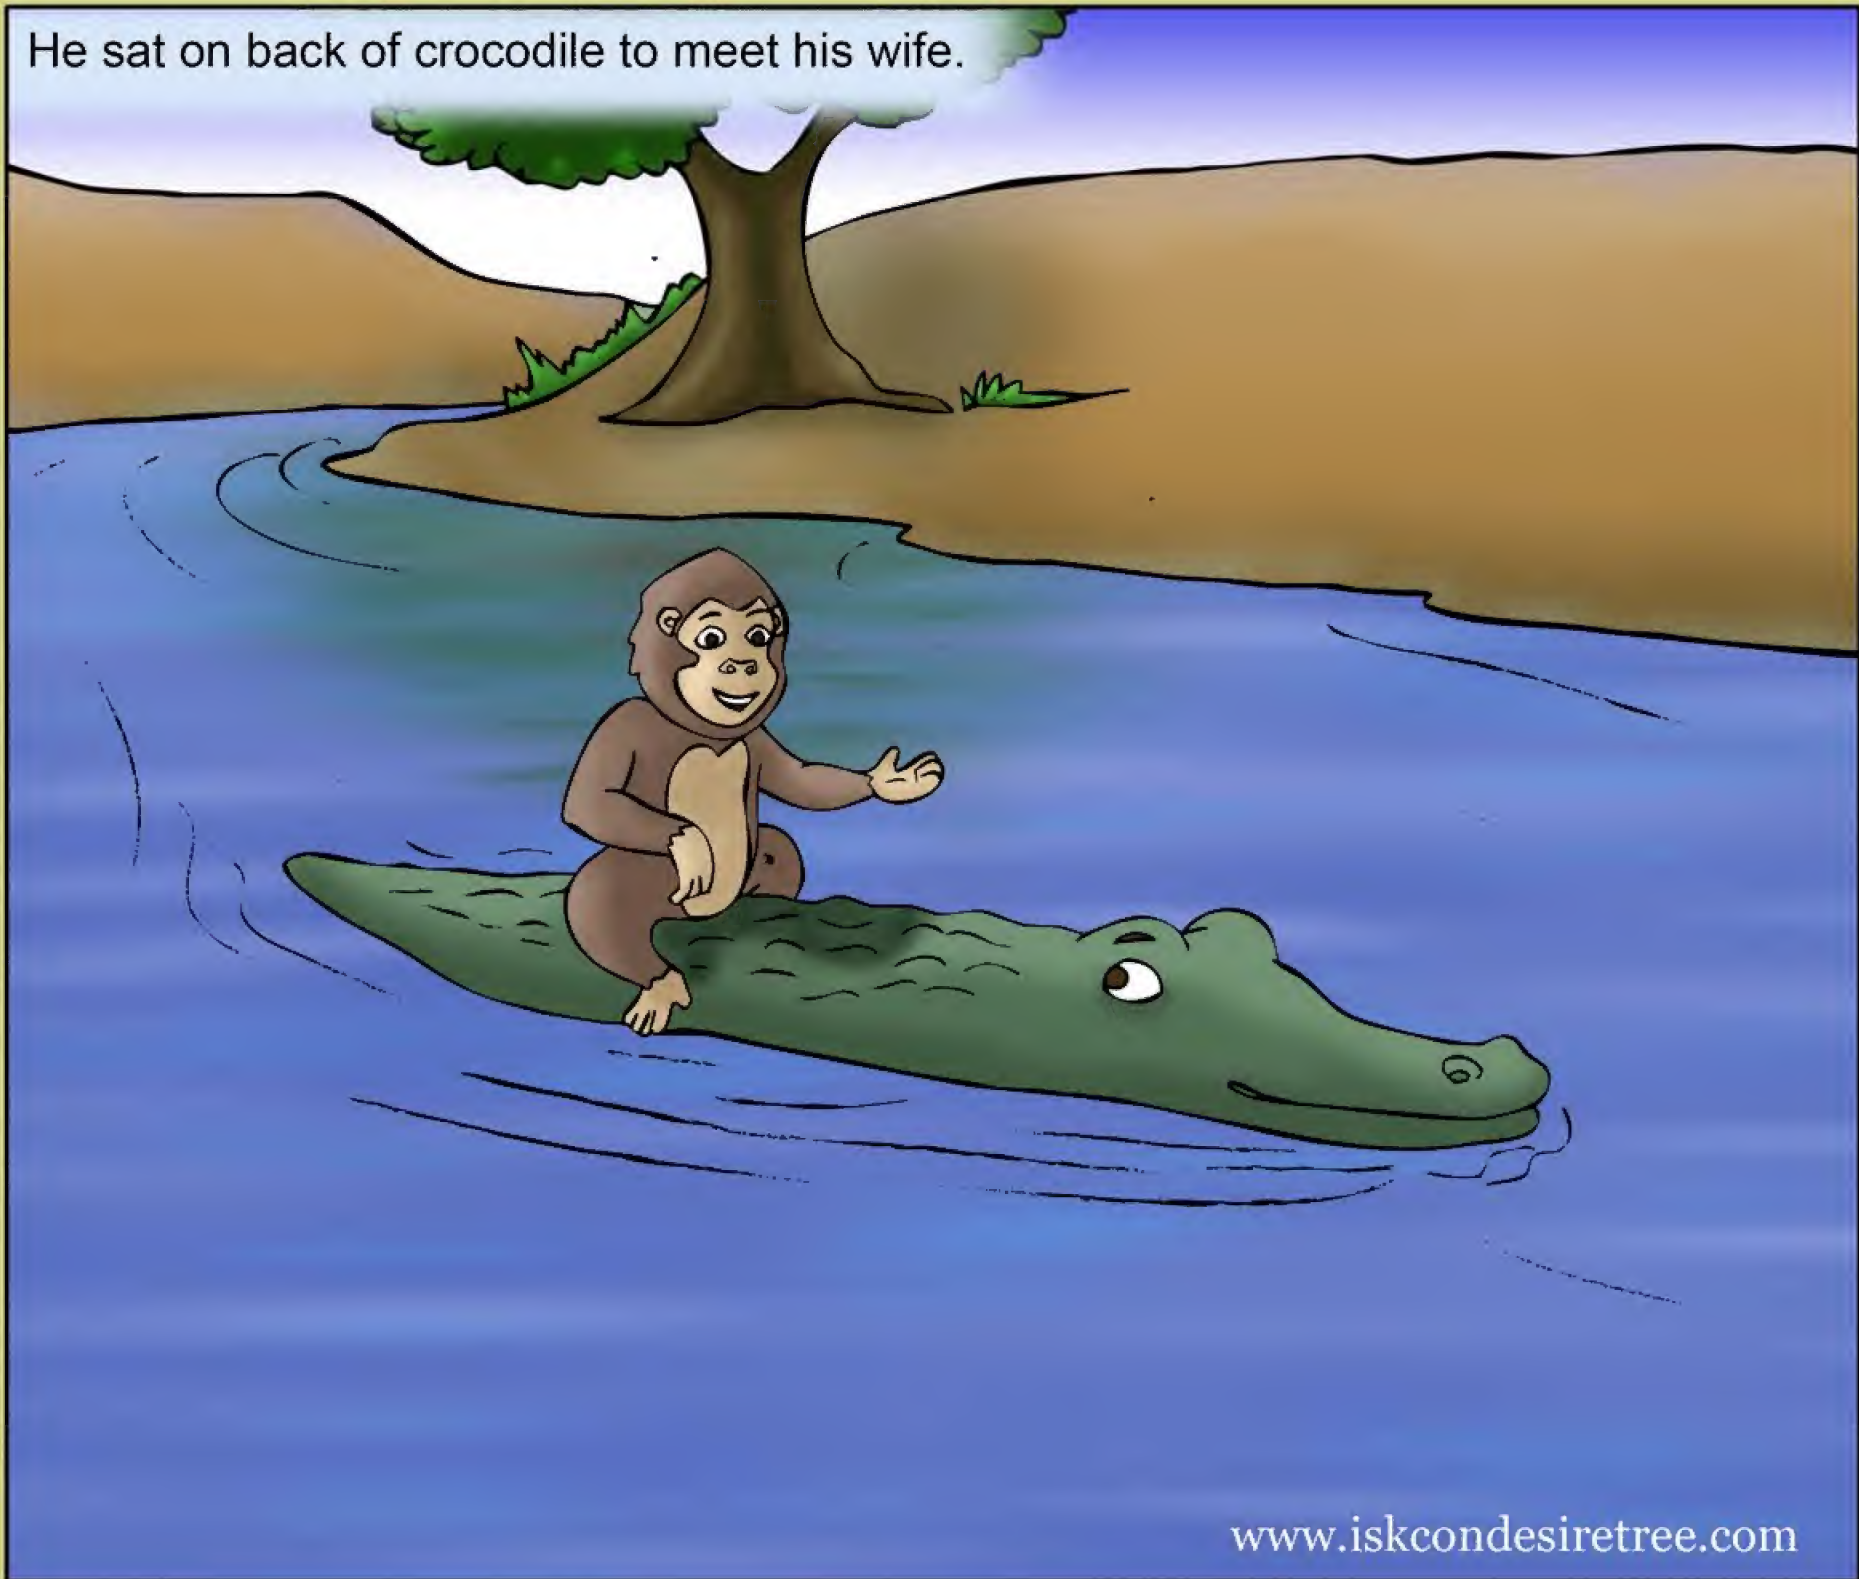

He sat on back of crocodile to meet his wife.

In the middle of the stream...

Why does your
wife want to meet me?
Has she collected delicious
fruits for me?

No. I am sorry my friend. My wife wants to eat your heart so I am taking
you home for this purpose.

The monkey was shocked. Realising that he can't escape by jumping into water, he thought of an idea.....

Oh dear friend
I have forgotten my heart
on the tree. Lets go back & bring the heart

So crocodile ran back to the mango tree.

As he came near the bank, the monkey jumped on the tree.

Tell your wife
to eat something else
instead of my heart
this evening.

Moral: Be careful in choosing friends.